Imposition of the rule would result in an undue hardship (unusual difficulty) because of major operational problems in the use of the building or structure.

☒

Imposition of the rule would result in an undue hardship (unusual difficulty) because of excessive costs of additional or altered construction elements.

Imposition of the rule would prevent the preservation of an architecturally or a historically significant part of the building or structure

Facts: The addition of a fire hydrant and main will cost over $26,000 to install. To comply with local zoning, we have already added on $18,000 in landscaping, as well as increasing our costs for asphalt by complying with local ordinances for parking, erosion control, and providing area for fire trucks to turn around. We have maxed out our lending request, and by adding on this additional cost, this expansion will not be able to be completed. There is a hydrant in the neighboring addition that is less than 400 feet away, but there is not an access road. There is also a retention pond on the neighboring lot that could be used to pump water from.
